

TERMS OF USE

This software is the property of Damien PONNELLE (mentioned hereafter as « the author ») who distributes it according to the principle of the FREEWARE. No financial contribution is consequently required for its use, whether it be within a personal or professional framework.

No one is authorized to decompile this software, to modify it some way that it is or to distribute it in another form than the one provided by the author and containing the whole of the files necessary to its correct operation. It is interdicted to distribute it against money.

This software is provided just as it is, without any guarantee. In no case, the author will be liable for possible hardware or software damages caused directly or indirectly by the download, the installation, the uninstallation or the use of the software.

The use of this software implies the unconditional acceptance of the whole of the terms of this licence agreement.

Thank you for your confidence and have fun using this software!

Damien PONNELLE.

Www : <https://www.dipisoft.com>

eMail : damien@dipisoft.com